

ROBISCHON

she watched as Brad walked toward her, but checked as he took a step in his arms. She slowly he went down on one knee until the three of them were in a small circle, as they both looked down at him, he smiled and spoke slowly the words they both longed to hear, but perhaps not in that context. He smiled closer and told them that only if he was willing to change the relationship could he begin to hope for a shot at the future.