

ROBISCHON

she tried, he lied, she wondered, he strapped, she wanted, he had nothing to give, she asked, he answered but didn't look up, she took up her head, he was nervous, she spun, he remained, she wanted, he slept, she sawed, he returned, she said she had been thinking about the difference between his heart and his head, she cried, he left, she wanted, he never came back, eventually, she came to realize that she loved, in a place you can shake your head to avoid the company of the lonely.